This morning he was given a reception in the State house, where he and Governor Harris received hundreds of clitzens. He went out this afternoon to Grove city, where he and Governor Harris and Booker T. Washington made addresses.

Mr. Fairbanks congratulated the colored people upon the successful inauguration of the exposition, saying that their success was not suprising to him as he knew something of the tenacity of their purpose. The importance of the work in which they are engaged could be better appreciated when the fact was recalled that the black race now constitutes more than ten per cent, of the population of the United States.

The exposition, he said, is a hopeful sign, not only because it illustrates what the negro has been able to accomplish in the industrial arts in a comparatively few years, but it shows that he appreciate the value of co-operation.

Officials of the Insular Bureau had expected a bid from Martin Luther Turner, of Oklahoma City, who wrote that he probably would blow into the office at the last moment, which has been his invariable custom. He did not show up, and nobody knows how much the Oklahoman would have been willing to pay for the privilege of keeping the issue off. Wall Street.

Officials of the Insular Bureau were greatly disappointed at having to reject the bids of Messrs. Akers and Deviln, since the acceptance of either would have doubled the premium received for the issue. Akers also submitted a bid: of, 105,25 on $50,000.
